

Natural Stone as a way of life.

The company, founded in 1983 by Attilio Stocchero, is now one of the most influential in the stone industry thanks also to the intuition of Attilio's son Giorgio Stocchero who, for years, has found new ways of conquering the market.

Stocchero Attilio has 900 types of stone (marble, onyx, quartzite, granite and travertine) and is always at the forefront of its offers, thanks to its testers searching for new materials worldwide. The material is processed with the utmost care during each phase, starting with selecting the stone and continuing with the cutting phase of the blocks and the slabs processing.

The meticulous organization of the production department, the flexibility in the types of processing, and the planned handling of materials allow Stocchero Attilio to meet the customer's needs and expectations of high production quality. The production plant is equipped with three polishing lines for granite and one for marble, a calibration line and two resin lines.

With a company size of about 55,000 square meters, we can count on a total of 1,100,000 square meters of slabs processed each year, all held in the company's workshops. These are kept in addition to the stock of blocks from 2017. Additionally, there are three Stone Live within the company, spaces dedicated to the exhibition of materials: Stone Live 1 for Marble, Stone Live 2 for the most exclusive quartzites, mainly from Brazil, and the Stone Live White Gallery dedicated to our white marbles.
